PROVIDING SOLUTIONS. NOT JUST ANSWERS.

Wachtel Masyr & Missry LLP congratulates Jesse Masyr, Morris Missry and John H. Reichman for their selections to 2012 New York Super Lawyers®. Jesse Masyr has been long been recognized as one of New York City's leading land use attorneys, guiding many of the largest and most important real estate development projects in the City from concept to reality. Morris Missry represents a wide variety of real estate developers, investors and syndicators in the acquisition, financing, construction, development and leasing of commercial, residential and mixed-use projects. These projects include shopping centers, shopping malls, hotels, office buildings, residential towers, and industrial facilities. John Reichman specializes in commercial, construction and real estate litigation. He has had substantial success litigating matters relating to business torts (such as fraud and appropriation of business opportunities) and shareholder disputes in closely-held companies.

For more than 25 years, Wachtel Masyr & Missry LLP, has represented public companies, not-for-profit institutions, high-net-worth individuals, and many of the most prominent real estate investors and developers in the nation. Our success comes from our ability to achieve results for our clients, find creative solutions to difficult problems, and to provide service in an economical manner.
